GOVT. OFFICIALS ADVISE TAX SALE

Officials from the Provincial Government were in Carbon on Thursday of last week and called at the local Municipal office in the course of their duty. After going over the affairs with the secretary of the Carbon Municipal District, they made special reference to certain items in connection with the work of the municipality. The following references were made and should be of interest to every tax payer:

1. Ratepayers are to be reminded that 25 per cent of the cost of relief road work must be borne by the Municipality.
2. Although strict economy is necessary, more money is available for relief work, if the council deem that the expenditure is necessary in special cases.
3. It is urgently requested that special attention be given to the collection of advances for seed grain in the year 1931.
4. Due to the heavy arrears of taxes of the Municipal District of Carbon and the past due indebtedness, the officials have strongly advised that arrangements be made immediately to hold a Tax Sale.

ELEVEN YEARS AGO

Taken from the files of the Carbon News eleven years ago this month.

The new home for Mr. Shields is now ready and is a great asset to the town.

The rumors are that the laying of the steel on the line between acme and Carbon will start next week and if the weather keeps fine we might see the first railroad engine in Carbon before long.

Chas. McMann of Carbon suffered a fire on Thursday at 5 p.m. and the stable and barn was a total loss. 500 pounds of wool was among the loss.

Jos. Skerry has undergone another operation and has one rib removed, with the hope that his arm will be all right afterwards.

Mr. L. Poxon with a few guests was at pine lake on a duck shooting party.

H. M. Thorburn, T. Ramsay, B. Pope and a few others also spent a few days at Pine Lake and came back with a load of ducks.

Mrs. Jack Poxon, Mrs. Sam Poxon and family, and Mr. Eli Poxon left Liverpool last Saturday and are expected here a week from next Saturday.

J. Morrison and Miss Kettleston, W. Gardiff and Miss Campbell, S. Torrance and Miss Ethel Hay, H. Douglass and several others went to a dance at Redland last Monday night.

Messrs. C. H. Nash and C.S. Burnett are back in Carbon, having closed up their summer resort at Pine Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. H.M. Thorburn were tendered a surprise party in honor of their wedding anniversary.

A meeting of the Carbon Curling Club was held on Thursday evening. G.S. Burnett was elected president, W. Leitch, vice-president, and Harry Evans secretary-treasurer. The membership is limited to 48.

Messrs. L.B. Hart, Chas. Bruels and John Clayton were in Calgary on Tuesday.

Mrs. Robertson was in Calgary this week to meet her brother, Hon. Arthur Meighen.

CLAYTON—CAIRNS

The marriage of Mr. James Clayton of Carbon and Mrs. May King Cairns, of Elrose, Sask., took place at Knox United church manse, Drumheller, on Monday, November 2nd. Rev. H. D. Leitch performed the ceremony and the witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Clayton of Carbon.

DEATH OF MR. WHEAT.

Webster City, Neb. Journal—Mr. Bread Wheat died at the family residence, known as "The Pit" after a lingering illness attributed to over exposure in Washington to a dreaded disease fatal to business, known as Hoover's farm relief.

Mr. Wheat was born in the year Joseph B.C., survived the panic and depressions of all ages, only to be stricken down in the year '30. He lived an honorable, upright life before God and man, serving unflinchingly with zeal, faith and confidence the human race for more than 6000 years without regard to race, creed or color.

A friend and faithful servant in war as in peace, the farmers' best friend, he stood for upright, honorable and sound, logical business methods. He was a devout believer of free and unrestricted commerce between nations and individuals, based upon intelligent thinking and honorable practices.

Mr. Wheat is survived by three grandsons: Doubt, Guess and Gamble, a legally adopted step-son, Hoover's Farm Board who was constantly at his bedside during the last days and is now sitting up beside the corpse.

Two daughters-in-law survive who were with him constantly when he was exposed to this dreaded and fatal business disease, known as Hoover's Farm Relief, and called Stabilization—Mrs. Broken-Down Co-ops. and Mrs. Peanut Politician.

The death of this honorable character is a distant loss to the economic world, he being one of its most faithful and responsible servants.

Services will be conducted by Rev. Alexander Legge and the body will lie in state for public inspection between the hours of 9.30 and 1.15 each business day until the remains can be smelted as far east as Washington.

Burial, if any, will be in the campaign of 1932, and the honorable pall bearers will be selected by the present

Colin Groff, a former member of the Calgary Albertan Staff and for some time publicity writer for the Canadian National Railway has been appointed by the Brownlee Government to take charge of the publicity work for the Province, and his many friends will be glad to welcome him back to Alberta.

Dan Doldovol, aged 46, drank a bottle of poison in front of J. Halliwell, J.P., who had been called in to settle a family dispute, and died the same evening.

Five provinces have contributed a total of 103 cars of fruit and vegetables to meet the needs of people in the drouth-stricken area of Southern Saskatchewan and part of Southern Alberta.

Besides the tax sale, the Council has the power to take court proceedings in the collection of taxes, and the Council of the Town of Three Hills has decided to follow this course in the future.

With the exception of a 69-mile stretch between Redcliff and Brooks, the 240 miles of the trans-Canada highway in Alberta have been completed.

Gleichen took another step forward last Tuesday when the town council received definite word that a flour mill with a capacity of 75 barrels per day, would be built in the town.

Nick Chirack, a Newcastle contractor, was badly cut and bruised when his car smashed into a pair of horses on the Drumheller-Calgary highway last Monday evening, about 14 miles from Drumheller.

W. J. Morris sued the M.D. of St. Lina for $70 for burial of an indigent last winter. The Act states that the M.D. is not liable to pay more than $15 for such cases. However, having regard to all circumstances, the Judge suggested that $30 be paid. —St. Paul Journal.

Mr. P. Pietrantonio, who has resided in this district for the past sixteen years, can boast of a good crop every year of his farming activities here. This year, however, was his record bumper crop and from 200 acres his wheat yield was 9012 bushels, an average of 45 bushels to the acre. Olds Gazette.

MANY ADVANTAGES FOR SMALL TOWN MANUFACTURING

Givernor Roosevelt in a recent address at Silver Bay, N.Y. declared that our great manufacturing industries ought to consider seriously going into the smaller communities with their plants. He expressed the belief that such a change is now getting under way and this of course will mean the building up of the smaller communities of the country. The decrease in taxes was cited as the chief reason why the factories will seek the smaller communities. Continuing, he said:

Farm Board. By request, no flowers to be sent. Donate the proceeds to the relief of some worthy farmer, most of whom have been relieved by everything in God's great garden except taxes and the right of fresh air.

"Your great taxes are your community taxes, and they will grow larger as more subways are built, water systems enlarged and the systems of transportation further congested.

"But suppose your smaller industries instead of inhabiting a large town moved to smaller communities. There those taxes would be smaller, our employees dollar would buy milk for ten cents a quart; and vegetables seven days a week at less than he pays now for fourth as much. Your employees would be happier and the farmer would have a larger outlet for his produce.

"There are in New York state a good many thousand industries which might well go back to the farm. I do not mean that literally, but rather back to the communities which I have described."

There is much to be said for the plan of taking industries to the small cities and the towns and villages of the country. Means of communication are getting better every day, so that manufacturing can be conducted at country points much better than would have been the case even ten years ago. Telegraph and telephone bills might increase but this would be offset many times through lower taxes and lower expenditures for real estate. And there is little doubt that the lot of the workers themselves would be much happier especially in view of the fact of the lower cost of living and greater community spirit in the smaller cities and towns. —Northfield (Minn.) News.

GERMANY'S DILEMMA

Germany is in a bad way—so bad a way that we in America have small conception of the severity of the crisis.

Her material crops have failed her. The cash dole has aggravated the unrest and dissatisfaction of her people. Selfish manipulation of the appropriation funds has merely emphasized its basic unsoundness. The government is impoverished. All sources of taxation are exhausted.

Though contributions to the dole fund have been increased fourfold, the insolvency of the fund cannot be avoided.

OLD TIME - HARD TIMES DANCE

At last the people of Carbon are getting down to the times—hard times. A dance is to be held in the Elks hall Carbon on Friday night (tomorrow) and it is to be a regular old time, hard times dance. A real snappy orchestra has been engaged and both old time and modern dance music will be played.

This is a hard times dance and you are asked to dress accordingly. If you don't you'll probably wish you had—

So that every dancer in the town and country can enjoy themselves, the old time dances will be a popular feature of the program Friday night. In fact every other dance will be an old time dance.

Supper goes with the admission charge to the dance and after partaking of the feast you should not be hungry for at least 24 hours afterwards, unless the plans of the committee fall through.

Your happy countenance will be missed if you are not on hand tomorrow evening, and the town folk are especially requested to turn out and mix with the country folk, who are sure to be there, and have one grand get-together. Will we all be there? You bet we will!

ed. All plans to reduce working hours for the purpose of extending employment—without lowering the wage rate to correspond to cutting off exports—have been found impracticable.

Half the chimneys in the industrial districts are smokeless. Practically one fourth of Germany's wage earners and salaried employees are out of jobs. Of those still employed less than half are on full time. The labor unions are clamoring for no reduction in wages or in the amount of the dole.

Stay With the Wheat Pool

In commenting on the delivery of wheat to Pool elevators in the prairie provinces, The Northwestern Miller, never very friendly to the Pool movement, says: "There is reason to believe that all three Pools have up to the present enjoyed their usual quota of grain handlings in the country. Such conditions in a year of short crops and keen country buying bespeaks the loyalty of the western farmer to the organization he has built up."

The Hudson Bay Route

The recent successful voyage of the steamer "Farnworth" from Churchill to London, England, loaded with the first cargo of wheat from Western Canada's own seaport, and which voyage was made in the short space of sixteen days, marks an epoch in Canada's maritime history.

It is true that vessels have passed in and out of Hudson Bay every year for more than a century; it is even true that two rival navies entered the Bay, fought a battle there, and sailed out again. It is also true that the success attending the voyage of the "Farnworth," and its sister ship, the "Warkworth," was an outcome fully expected by Western people. The importance of this venture lies in the fact that it provided the final demonstration to Eastern Canada and the world that the West's belief in the feasibility of the Bay route, and its demands, extending for fifty years back, for the construction of the railway to the Bay were fully justified.

It has been proven that the Bay route can be made a commercial success; that the 1,000 mile shorter route from the heart of the grain growing prairies to the centre of the Empire is a practical route. But the fast, safe trips of the "Farnworth" and "Warkworth," through what had for years been regarded as the "frozen North," are not in themselves sufficient guarantee that the new route will become the important factor it should be in the economic history of Western Canada.

The Hudson Bay route is 1,000 miles shorter than any other route; it is feasible; it is practical; it can be made a success. But, in order to be a complete success and to provide an adequate return to the people of Canada for the $50,000,000, more or less, expended on the railway, the port terminals, and for navigation aids through the straits, other things are essential. Unfortunately, some of these matters are tangled up in the controversies of rival policies of political parties. With these rivalries this column has no concern, but, speaking for the West, it must be said without any qualification that they cannot, must not be allowed to hamper the success of the Bay route.

Among the things now essential to the success of that route are:

(1) The lowest possible rates of freight on both outgoing and incoming shipments over the Hudson Bay railway, and this means the application in all its detail of the Crow's Nest Pass schedules to the Hudson Bay railway.

(2) The lowest possible rates of insurance on both vessels and cargoes utilizing the Bay route, and, in this connection, absorption by the Federal Government of any excess in such rates charged over and above those obtaining on other routes until experience demonstrates what the proper rates should be.

(3) The removal of any existing obstacles to the freest possible passage and entry of merchandise and products of all kinds from the more easterly sections of Canada and the markets of Europe into Western Canada by means of the Bay route and the port of Churchill, such removal of existing obstacles to be accompanied by every reasonable encouragement of such traffic. This is essential because no railway and no ocean-going vessel can quote low rates if it can depend on only a one-way traffic.

(4) Finally, it is important that certain branch lines of railway be built in the West which will have the effect of connecting up existing lines in the shortest and most direct way possible with the Hudson Bay railway. This can be done in the majority of cases with comparatively short cut-offs.

Some people advocate making Churchill not only a national port, but a free port. That may or may not be feasible. Such a decision would have an effect on the whole fiscal and economic systems of the Dominion, although unquestionably it would give a great boost to the Bay route and make its success assured.

The point of this article, however, is just this: The Hudson Bay route can, we believe, be made to realize the dreams of western people; it can be made a financial success as well as a great economic and commercial enterprise. The opportunity and the responsibility now rests with the people of the West, irrespective of class or party, to work together in unison to achieve that result. Freight rates must be the lowest possible; insurance rates likewise; necessary railway branch cut-offs must be built; obstacles, if any, to movement of traffic removed; full encouragement for use of the route provided. All political parties have had a hand in the building of the railway and the opening of the route; all have a common interest in its success. So, regardless of party, all Westerners should work together to make that success an assured fact.

Russia and Germany

Soviets Have Good Reason For Not Stirring Up Revolution

For once the Soviet Government of Russia has been reluctant to play with fire in a powder house. On every earlier occasion when Russia's neighbor, Germany, passed through a difficult financial situation, Russian agents were busy in Hamburg, Dresden, Berlin, and other cities, attempting to stir up revolution. In the present case Russia has apparently kept hands off, and one of the dispatches from Moscow suggests the reason.

Russia's chief interest today is the five-year plan. If this plan is to succeed, Russia must build up an export trade. One of the best markets for Russian exports is Germany. Revolution in Germany might endanger the five-year plan by depriving Russia of an indispensable outlet for the raw materials which she must sell abroad, in order to build up credit with which to purchase machinery and tools.

If the Soviet's policy toward Germany is any guide, the world has less to fear from Russia, seeking prosperous markets for her wares, than from Russia, starving and empty handed.

I always use Diamond Dyes for the work—using them as dyes for dresses and as tints for stockings. I have always gotten such perfect results that our neighbors talk about the great number of new things I have."

"I learned about Diamond Dyes from our wardrobe mistress. She says she has tried all the dyes on the market but none do such splendid work and are so easy to use as Diamond Dyes. I understand they are the world's most popular dyes—and they deserve to be."

Auditorium For Winnipeg

Federal Government Will Share In Cost Of Construction

Approval by the special sub-committee of cabinet on unemployment relief of $1,250,000 additional expenditure for the Province of Manitoba, including the Federal Government's share in the cost of construction of a large auditorium in the City of Winnipeg, was announced by Hon. G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor, and chairman of the sub-committee.

Federal Government commitments for the Province of Manitoba are now upward of $2,250,000, as compared with $900,000, which was the Federal allotment for Manitoba last year in addition to the necessary direct relief on an equal three-way basis between the cities, province and Dominion.

Life Insurance In Canada

Per Capita Record Surpassed Only By United States

A statement issued by the Life Insurance Sales Research Bureau shows that in the first nine months of the present year a total of $367,223,000 of new paid-for ordinary life insurance was sold in Canada and Newfoundland.

This hardly indicates that Canada is broke.

What it does indicate is that if Mr. Bennett should be required to float an internal loan he ought to have no difficulty in raising an amount up to $200,000,000.

Incidentally, speaking of life insurance, the total of insurance in force in Canada at the present time is $6,500,000,000, or $650 for every man, woman and child in the Dominion. It is a per capita record surpassed by only one country in the world, the United States.—Ottawa Journal.

British Postal Notes

Post Office Department Says British and Irish Free State Postal Orders No Longer To Be Cashed

Due to the depreciated British pound, orders have been issued by the post office department that British and Irish Free State postal notes are no longer to be cashed. The order does not apply to post office money orders.

The explanation given at Ottawa is that postal notes are settled with London on a different basis to money orders, and involve the risk of exchange fluctuations. In any circumstances, the Canadian post office authorities have been inclining to the view that circulation of British and Irish Free State postal notes should cease in Canada and the present chaotic exchange situation appears to provide a suitable occasion for bringing the change of policy into effect.

These governments, however, on advice from Ottawa, have now ceased to issue postal notes for Canada, and will issue only money orders hereafter. The money order, it is stated here, does not involve any exchange risk.

The British exchange situation also has had repercussion on the circulation in Canada of British bank notes. The pound and ten shilling notes, it is learned, are no longer being accepted by many of the Canadian banks.

East African Natives Used Wires For Personal Adornment

Telegraph wire, in varying lengths, attached here and there to otherwise scanty clothing, means chic to the natives of Tanganyika and Kenya, South Africa, and as a result the capital was without wire service to the coast for more than 24 hours.

The demand for wire for sartorial purposes exceeded the available non-commercial supply, so the natives cut telegraph lines about 24 miles from Mombasa and took what they wanted. Cable messages had to be sent to Mombasa, and thence by train, until the damage was repaired. The delay was 16 hours.

Shipment Of Blueberries From Kenora This Year Totalled 255,000 Pounds

One Kenora industry showed a remarkable increase this year, as compared with 1930. Blueberries shipped from Kenora this year showed an approximate increase of eighty per cent. over last year's shipments.

The 1930 blueberry crop was 145,000 pounds, or some 8,700 baskets, while this year the shipments totalled 255,000 pounds, or some 15,300 baskets. While the prices this year were lower than last year, yet the increase was even more marked, in the fact that there was always a market this season for the berries, a fact that is not always experienced in other years.

Declares More Armed Men In World To-Day Than In 1914, Before Outbreak Of Great War

Arresting information on world armaments was given by Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice and head of the Canadian delegation to the 12th assembly of the League of Nations. Twenty per cent. of the aggregate amount of revenues of nations in the world today goes on armaments, Mr. Guthrie declared to a combined meeting of the League of Nations Society and the Women's Canadian Club at Ottawa. After all the efforts of the past 12 years there were more armed men in the world today than there were in 1914 before the war. Expenditures were greater. If, said Mr. Guthrie, danger of war because of large armaments existed in 1914, what should be said of conditions today?

This condition was the reason for the coming disarmament conference to be held in Geneva next February, continued the Minister of Justice. Right thinking people felt that there was danger of war and that steps should be taken to remove this danger. If a start in the direction could be made next February, much would have been accomplished. "But," said Mr. Guthrie, "I believe that security must precede disarmament in Europe."

The Minister of Justice spoke on the subject of "present problems of the League of Nations." Having returned from Geneva only a short time ago, he was familiar with proceedings at the 12th assembly, and he outlined for his listeners what had been accomplished by the representatives of the 52 nations present. Disarmament, he said, had overshadowed all other subjects discussed. A draft agreement had been prepared for submission to the disarmament conference in February, and he considered it a model document.

Weather Records Changed

White River, Ontario, Had Unusually Mild October

White River, Ontario, which often wins page one prominence because of its winter habit of being the coldest spot in Canada, blossomed forth this year with weather records of a totally different kind.

An average high temperature of about 65 degrees was recorded for October of this year compared with 40 a year ago, while the lowest mark to end of October was well above 40 with 10 degrees shown as the low at that time.

Plant life flourished under the mild weather, with tame strawberries being plucked during the month blueberry blossoms found in many places and dandelions numerous. The fourth crop of clover was being grown in farm fields.

Hunters reported the woods full of insects, black flies and mosquitoes being nearly as numerous as in mid-summer.

Good Advice To Follow

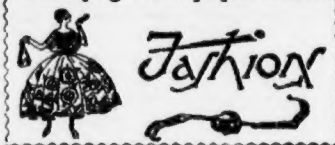

Live Right and Whether Future Life Exists Does Not Matter

Relatively few people reach a state of mind which enables them to say with the late Thomas A. Edison, "If there is life hereafter, or if there is none, it does not matter." Most men today live either in an earnest hope or dire dread of immortality. Or, if they dissent from the general belief in life after death, find cold comfort in the prospect of annihilation.

Few of us are wise enough and strong enough to live as we believe life ought to be lived and then remain content to let the question of a future existence take care of itself. Few of us are able to keep before our minds an acute realization that talk, speculation, argument and desire are utterly impotent to change the fact about the existence or non-existence of immortality; and that the best we can do is to order our ways so that in the event of an awakening beyond death, we will be in a position to exist comfortably and happily thereafter.

Certainly there is nothing to be lost by a life of proper preparation for possible eventualities, and there may be much to be gained. And as certainly, if the order of the universe contains no provision for resurrection of man there will be no regret, for we never will know that we labored in vain.

International Peace Garden

Turtle Mountain Site Has Been Selected By Committee

The international peace gardens will be located in the Turtle Mountain site in Manitoba. The final selection of this area has been made by the international committee and is now approved by all American and Canadian bodies having the question of a site under consideration.

The Turtle Mountain site is on the International Boundary, partly in Manitoba and partly in North Dakota. In September the National Association of Gardeners at their convention at Asbury Park, N.J., approved the site, but final decision rested with the International Peace Garden Commission and the executives of the Canadian Association of Florists and Gardeners and the National Association of Gardeners.

Two sections of land are to be donated by the Manitoba Government and a similar area by the state of North Dakota. The plan calls for planting the garden with flowering plants, trees and shrubbery representative of both nations.

It is proposed to raise a fund of $5,000,000 to maintain the garden in perpetuity as a token of the unbroken peace between Canada and the United States. While means of raising the money have not been settled the international committee is considering a collection of small donations from school children in all parts of Canada and the United States.

Automobiles Give Big Revenue

Registration and Gasoline Tax Help To Swell Receipts

Revenue from motor vehicles, including registration and gasoline tax, totalled $41,076,405 in 1930, an increase of $1,745,103 or 4.3 per cent. over the previous year, according to a preliminary report on highways and motor vehicles issued by the Canadian Government Bureau of Statistics.

There was a decrease during the year under review of $2,165,154, or 9.7 per cent. in registration fees, due largely to the decrease of the average fee in the province of Ontario, but this was offset by an increase of $5,910,257 or 20.9 per cent. in the receipts from gasoline tax over that of 1929, owing to the larger quantity of gasoline consumed.

Railway Board Ruling

A Surcharge Is Set On Express Rates To United States

A surcharge amounting to 60 per cent. of the rate of exchange between Canadian and United States currency has been imposed upon the ordinary rates, by the Board of Railway Commissioners. The order becomes effective at once. This brings the express rates into line with the freight rates on traffic to the United States, a surcharge having been placed on these several weeks ago.

Refusal of the United States express companies to accept payment in anything but United States funds was the reason for the imposition of the surcharge.

A Feasible Route

Churchill Route Is Considered Favorably By Sea Captain

The shipment of grain and other cargoes through the Hudson Strait from Canada's new northern harbor, Churchill, to European ports, is very feasible, according to Captain W. J. Balcom, commander of the Canadian Government ice-breaker, "N. B. McLean," which returned to Quebec after spending three and a half months patrolling Hudson Strait.

Captain Balcom said that the two grain boats, the "Farnworth" with 7,410 tons of wheat and the "Warkworth" with 7,172 tons, were both escorted through the strait from Cape Chidley to Coates Island at the eastern extremity of the strait, on their trip to the Old Country. No trouble was experienced and the owners of the two vessels had already signified their willingness to carry further cargoes from Churchill.

Conditions in the Hudson Strait this season have been the best in many years, the "McLean's" commander stated, very little field ice being encountered, though quite a few bergs were sighted. The first snowfall came on September 16.

Eliminates Monoxide Fumes

Device Invented By Toronto Man Is Protection To Motorists

Invention of a device which eliminates the deadly carbon monoxide fumes from automobile exhaust is the claim made by W. Gordon Marsh of Toronto. Substantiation of the claim is contained in a report by A. E. Smith, assistant professor of chemical engineering at the University of Toronto.

Mr. Smith made an analysis of a sample taken from a car fitted with the device and his signed report shows carbon monoxide had been almost completely eliminated.

Young Burr has produced an affidavit to show that he made the same progress as McDougal in eight years, five months and 20 days.

Found That Mary Is the Favorite Among Women's Names In England

Careful statistics have been collected by a man in England as to names, from which it is realized that John is the favorite Christian name in that country, followed by Thomas, William, Richard and Robert, in that order. Mary is the favorite among women's names, and during the past hundred years sixty-eight girl babies out of every thousand have been christened Mary. Eliza, Sarah, Anne, Jane and Ellen come next among girls' names, or did so up to the date of the Great War.

The Antidote For Fear

Courage, Confidence and Hope Needed By World Today

The curse of humanity has always been fear.

Fear dates back to the beginning of man.

Fear is the mother of hatred, the instigator of murder, the begetter of wars.

Fear is the enemy of sanity, the spoiler of judgment, the defiler of the soul.

Fear turns day into night and makes men walk in darkness.

Fear is the forerunner of distress, the foe to prosperity, the preserver of poverty.

Fear is the failure of the spirit, the triumph of the primitive over the civilized, the victory of death over life.

As individuals and as a nation we should cast fear from us.

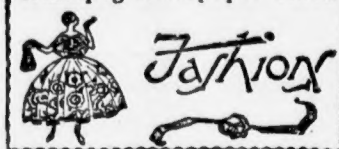

Courage, confidence, hope—these are the antidotes—and the world has great need of them today. Fear is the thing that halts progress and creates difficulties, makes people hesitate where courage would see them through.

Tender-handed stroke a nettle. And it stings you for your pains; Grasp it like a man of mettle—

And as soft as silk remains.

TOO FAT AT 22

Lost 19 lbs.—And Backache

"I am 22 years of age, and I weighed 163 lbs. I had pains in the back and head. I didn't care about anything. When my friend told me to try Kruschen Salts, I would not at first—I was sick of taking stuff. But since I tried Kruschen Salts, six months ago, I have lost 19 lbs., and feel a different woman, so I am very thankful to Mrs. — who recommended Kruschen Salts."—Mrs. P.

The condition which caused this woman to put on weight was also the cause of her backache and headaches. The whole trouble was due to the internal organs failing to expel from the body, regularly and completely, the waste products of digestion. The six salts of Kruschen assist the internal organs to perform their functions properly—to throw off each day the waste and poisons that cumber the system. Then, little by little, that ugly fat goes—slowly, yes—but surely. The backache and headaches disappear. You feel wonderfully healthy, youthful and energetic—more so than ever before in your life.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

THE FLAME

As a man may kindle a flame that glows

On a hearth in a cold, bare room
Till its dancing light, all color of rose,
Floods the place with its warmth and bloom.

He has lighted a spark in many lives
With the touch of his spirit's fire.
He has kindled the dream that through all survives,
He has quickened the high desire.

As a blaze with its glamour of ruddy light

Transfigures a room once bleak,
So the flame of his courage, clear and bright,

Brings the power the timorous seek.
He has brought into lives that were drear and cold,

Into doubting hearts of youth,
A gift which has solace for young and old,
The flicker of living truth!

New Waltz and Song Enjoying a Vogue in the West

Extolling the beauties of Waskesiu Lake, the national playground in Northern Saskatchewan, Mr. J. S. Brundige of Regina, has published a song entitled "The Lovely Waskesiu." A very delightful musical setting has been arranged by Margaret Lindsay, also of Regina, and the song has been dedicated "To those who have loafed and fished in the Canadian Northland." Words of the song are as follows:

I've wandered over eastern hills, I've trod the western plain,
And revelled in the beauty of the waving golden grain,
But nature holds a nobler gem the lovely Waskesiu.
O'er hill and dale and winding trail I'm coming back to you.

Thy face reflects the setting sun in many shaded sheen,
The woodland marks thy limits with a frame of softest green;
Thy waters croon a lullaby, soft as a Mothers' song,
That soothes to rest the weary mind, while childhood memories throng.

The flowers deck thy verdant banks, the aspens whisper low,
And shed a benediction in the silvery moonlight glow.
The northland calls her children home to lovely Waskesiu
O'er hill and dale and winding trail I'm coming back to you.

PAUL IN JERUSALEM

Golden Text: "Thou shalt be a witness for Him unto all men of what thou hast seen and heard."—Acts 22: 15.

Lesson: Acts 21:17 to 23:30.
Devotional Reading: 2 Corinthians 4:7-15.

Explanations and Comments

Paul's Reception At Jerusalem, verses 17-19.—The leaders of the Church at Jerusalem received Paul cordially. James was in the company that greeted him, but Peter seems not to have been present. Paul came to them with a wonderful story of how the gospel message had been received among the Grecian Jews and Gentiles, and with abundant proof of their regard for the Mother Church in the collection which they had contributed out of their deep poverty. It is evident that Paul had thought this gathering of contributions from his Gentile churches to be "the crowning act," as Professor Ramsay declares, of his work in the four Gentile provinces of Galatia, Asia, Macedonia, and Achaia. Yet there is no mention of any expression of gratitude on the part of the receivers. The omission is pathetic to one who has followed with intense interest Paul's course and aim.

Apparently the apostles and elders of Jerusalem passed at once to what was uppermost in their own minds. The theological and theoretical overshadowed the practical in this early Christian group as they have done all too often in all the ages since.

A somewhat similar spirit reigned among the representatives of the Church of England in Africa a few years since. Missionaries were eager to tell of their labors and successes, but these High Churchmen said "Brothers, we hear that you have received at your Communion Table missionaries who do not belong to our sect."

THE HOUSE OF DREAMS-COME-TRUE

— BY —
MARGARET PEDLER

"Thank God!" she heard him mutter. Then, aloud, reassuringly: "I've got my end of it all right. Now, can you catch hold of the strap and raise yourself a little so that I can reach you?"

Jean obeyed. A minute later she felt his arms about her shoulders, underneath her armpits, and then very slowly, but with a sure strength that took from her all sense of fear, he drew her safely up beside him on to the high ground.

For a moment they both rested quietly, recovering their breath. The Englishman seemed glad of the respite, and Jean noticed with concern the rather drawn look of his face. She thought he must be more played out than he cared to acknowledge.

Across the silence of sheer fatigue their eyes met—Jean's filled with a wistful solicitude as unconscious and candid as a child's, the man's curiously brilliant and inscrutable—and in a moment the silence had become something other, different, charged with emotional significance, the revealing silence which falls suddenly between a man and woman.

At last:

"This is what comes of stealing a day from Mrs. Grundy," commented the man drily.

And the tension was broken.

He sprang up, as though anxious to maintain the recovered atmosphere of the commonplace.

"Come! Having shot her bolt and tried ineffectually to down you in a ditch, I expect the old lady will let us get home safely now. We're through the worst. There are no more drifts between here and the hotel."

It was true. Anything that might have spelt danger was past, and it only remained to follow the beaten track up to the hotel, though even so, with the wind and snow driving in their faces, it took them a good half-hour to accomplish the task.

Monsieur and Madame de Varigny,

When TEETHING makes HIM FUSSY

One of the most important things you can do to make a teething baby comfortable is to see that little bowels do their work of carrying off waste matter promptly and regularly. For this nothing is better than Castoria, a pure vegetable preparation specially made for babies and children. Castoria acts so gently you can give it to young infants to relieve colic. Yet it is always effective, for older children, too. Remember, Castoria contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics—is absolutely harmless. When your baby is fretful with teething or a food upset, give a cleansing dose of Castoria. Be sure you get genuine Castoria with the name: the name:

a distracted "maitre d'hotel," and a little crowd of interested and sympathetic visitors welcomed their arrival.

"Mon dieu, mademoiselle! But we rejoice to see you back!" exclaimed Madame de Varigny. "We ourselves are only newly returned—and that, with difficulty, through this terrible storm—and we arrive to find that none knows where you are!"

"Me, I made sure that mademoiselle had accompanied Madame la Comtesse," asseverated Monsieur Vautrinot, nervously anxious to exculpate himself from any charge of carelessness.

"We were just going to organize a search-party," added the little Count. "I, myself—stoutly—should have joined in the search."

Weary as she was, Jean could hardly refrain from smiling at the idea of the diminutive Count in the role of gallant preserver. He would have been considerably less well-qualified even than herself to cope with the drifting snow through which the sheer, dogged strength of the Englishman had brought her safely.

Instinctively she turned with the intention of effecting an introduction between the latter and the Varignys, only to find that he had disappeared. He had taken the opportunity presented by the little ferment of excitement which had greeted her safe return to slip away.

She felt oddly disconcerted. And yet, she reflected, it was so like him—so like the conception of him which she had formed, at least—to evade both her thanks and the enthusiasm with which a recital of the afternoon's adventure would have been received.

CHAPTER VI. The Magic Moment

Jean, surprisingly revived by a hot bath and a hot drink, and comfortably tucked up beside the fire in her room, was recounting the day's adventure to Madame de Varigny.

It was a somewhat expurgated version of the affair that she outlined—thoughtfully calculated to allay the natural apprehensions of a temporary chaperon—in which the unknown Englishman figured innocuously as merely having come to her assistance when, in the course of her afternoon's tramp, she had been overtaken by the blizzard. Of the stolen day, snatched from under Mrs. Grundy's enquiring nose, Jean preserved a discreet silence.

"I don't know who he could be," she pursued. "I've never seen him on the ice before; I should certainly have recognized him if I had. He was a lean, brown man, very English-looking—that sort of cold-tub-every-morning effect, you know. Oh! And he had one perfectly white lock of hair that was distinctly attractive. It looked—descriptively—"as though someone had dabbed a powdered finger on his hair—just in the right place."

Madame de Varigny's eyes narrowed, and a quick ejaculation escaped her. It was something more than a mere exclamation connoting interest; it held a definitely individual note, as though it sprang from some sudden access of personal feeling.

Jean, hearing it, looked up in some surprise, and the other, meeting her questioning glance, rushed hastily into speech.

"A lock of white hair? But how chic! It should not"—thoughtfully—"be difficult to discover the identity of anyone with so distinctive a characteristic."

"He is not staying in the hotel, at all events," said Jean. "He told me he was at a friend's chalet."

"And he did not enlighten you as to his name? Gave you no hint?"

Madame de Varigny spoke with an assumption of indifference in her liquid voice.

Jean shook her head, smiling a little to herself. It had been part of the charm of that brief companionship that neither of the two comrades knew any of the everyday, commonplace details concerning the other.

"Perhaps you will see him again at the rink tomorrow," suggested

Madame de Varigny, still with that note of restrained eagerness in her tones. "The snow is not deep except where it has drifted; they will clear the ice in the morning."

Jean was silent. She was not altogether sure that she wanted to see him again. As it stood, robbed of all commonplace circumstances of convention, the incident held a certain glamour of whimsical romance which could not but appeal to the daughter of Glyn Peterson. Nicely rounded off, as, for instance, by the unknown Englishman's prosaically calling at the hotel the next day to enquire whether she had suffered any ill effects, it would lose all the thrill of adventure. It was the suggestion of incompleteness which flavored the entire episode so piquantly.

No, on the whole, Jean rather hoped that she would not meet the Englishman again—at least, not yet. Some day, perhaps, it might be rather nice if chance brought them together once more. There would be a certain element of romantic fitness about it, should that happen.

"I don't think I am likely to see him again," she said quietly, replying to Madame de Varigny's suggestion. "He told me he was going away tomorrow."

Had it been conceivable, Jean would have said that a flash of disappointment crossed the Countess's face. But there seemed no possible reason why the movements of an unknown Englishman should cause her any excitement of feeling whatever, pleasant or otherwise. The only feasible explanation was that odd little streak of inquisitiveness concerning other people's affairs which appeared to be characteristic of her and which she had before evinced concerning the circumstances of Lady Anne Brennan.

Whatever curiosity she may have felt, however, on this occasion Madame de Varigny refrained from giving expression to it. Apparently dismissing the subject of the Englishman's identity from her mind, she switched the conversation into a fresh channel.

"It is unfortunate that you should have met with such a contretemps today. You will not feel disposed to dance this evening, after so much fatigue," she observed commiseratingly.

But Jean scouted the notion. With the incomparable resiliency of youth, she felt quite equal to dancing all night if needs be.

"Mais tout au contraire!" she exclaimed. "I'm practically recovered—at least, I shall be after another half-hour's lazing by this glorious fire. I wonder what heaven-sent inspiration induced Monsieur Vautrinot to install

Nay, rather act the part unnamed, unknown, And let Fame blow her trumpet through the world With noisy wind to swell a fool's renown. Joined with some truth he stumbled blindly o'er, Or coupled with some single, shining deed That in the great account of all his days Will stand alone upon the bankrupt sheet His plying angel shows the clerk of heaven. —Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Is it only those who are great, or those only who are splendidly good, whose works do follow them? God forbid. Are there not, as He Himself has told us, such little things as the widow's mite and the cup of cold water given for His sake? There is a greatness in unknown names, there is an immortality of quiet duties attainable by the meanest of mankind.

her tonsils removed.A car accident on the Drumheller-Calgary highway was reported Monday night, about 12 miles from Carbon.
It is said that the two cars met head on about eleven o'clock Monday night and both vehicles were badly smashed up. The occupants of the cars escaped injury with the exception of one man, whose condition has not been reported on at the time of going to press.—Our stock of Personal Greeting Cards lions of bushels of fictitious wheat supplies have faded away," Dr. W.W.

Swanson, professor of economics at the University of Saskatchewan, and adviser on wheat marketing problems to Premier R.B. Bennett at the last Imperial Conference, told an interviewer here Tuesday night.Dr. Swanson reiterated the statement he made several months ago that the so-called surplus was not due to a wheat acreage too large for the world needs, but mainly to the abnormal crop of 1928. He regrets the small western crop this year as he predicts a keen demand, particularly for the higher grades of Canadian wheat to build up the low quality wheat of Europe.He looks for rapid disposal of the holdings of the U.S. Farm Board and regards neither Russia nor the Argentine Republic "as the formidable competitors" that many have supposed.18
